MERE-MENTION

The thermometer registered 86 i New York Tuesday, the highest tem perature for May since 1886. Cleveland H. Dodge paid $55,660 New York Tuesday at a Red Cross dinner for the original signed proclamation of President Wilson for th $100,000,000 Red Cross drive. The firs bid for the document was $500.

United States regimental army bands are to be increased from 28 to 50 mil sicians in order to give "more jarg" to the soldiers. John Lowry, a British shippard riveter, on Tuesday clipped from sheep that graze on the White House lawn at Washington, were sold at auction for the henefit of the Red Cross in Boston Monday, for $2,000 Philadelphia detectives raided a room occupied by one John O'Donnell Monday and seized about $6,000 worth of narcotic druss which he had been selling at retail. Jeremiah O'Leary, editor of Bull, under indictment in New York under the espionage act, has forfeited his $2,500 bond and is now a fugitive. John J. O'Leary, a brother, has been placed under $100,000 bond in connection with the disappearance of Jeremiah O'Leary. Up to Wednesday the keels for 22 steel ships had been laid down at Hog Island yards at Philadelphia. It is expected that 40 keels will be laid by July 15, after which the completed ships will be sliding out of the way of new yessels. Steel is now reaching their bleard in a continuous

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP! ASK FOR.

I HAVE represented the MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of Newark, N. J., in this section during the past nineteen years. When I made my original contract I had had some life insurance experience and had a general knowledge of the Mutual Benefit, its exceptionally liberal policy contracts, its unbroken record since it was originally incorporated in 1845 up to 1899, when I made my first contract, for square dealing and for being in a class I made my first contract, for square dealing and for being in a class by itself, and from that day to this through the columns of The Enquirer I have sought to impress the readers of the paper with the truths that originally caused me to choose the Mutual Benefit as the one Company that I desired to represent out of the seventy-five or more "old line" or legal reserve life insurance Companies doing business in the United States at that time, and while it is a fact that scores and scores of people in this section, through my efforts, have been induced to investigate the Company, and are today the owners of from one to six policies, and are proud of the fact, I also know it to be a fact that there are others who in buying their life insurance lost sight of the fact that it was a duty they owed themselves ance lost sight of the fact that it was a duty they owed themselves and their families "To look before leaping", and have bought con-tracts that they knew were inferior to those of the Mutual Benefit because of the persistent importunities of the agent for the other lompany, or because it was represented by a friend that they want-Company, or because it was represented by a friend that they wanted to help, or because the agent needed the business, or because of a promised or expected business benefit. They lost sight of the fact that a Life Insurance Contract is a Life Time Proposition, which means that a policy issued today may not mature for forty years, and that during all that interval there are likely to be times when they will carnestly desire the kind of freatment that has characterized the management of the Mutual Benefit for Seventy-three Years. They lose sight of the fact that the policy holder pays the freight, and also that if they are not absolutely sure that the friend that they desire to help returnsents a Commany with a record that they desire to help represents a Company with a record that compares favorably with the Mutual Benefit, that the wise thing to do would be to pay him the commission he would get for selling his policy and then buy the Mutual Benefit policy. Brother, it has never been my custom to sell life insurance except strictly on the merits of the "goods," and while it is true I have sold lots of insurance to friends, it is also true that in no single instance have I begin the result of the ground that I needed ever urged a sale on that ground, or on the ground that I needed the business, and I never shall. "Look Before You Leap," and if you do so and are satisfied that the other follow's goods are what you need, why I will say, by all means, buy them.
